

Dynamic KEYNOTES and SEMINARS That Get Results!

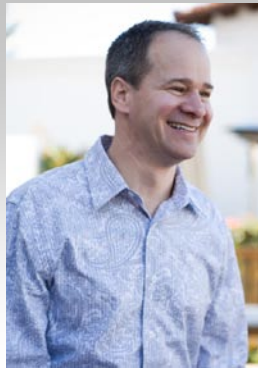

The ultimate 'return of investment' for putting on an event is that your audience uses the information and tools to drive their bottom-line to its potential. Jim V's Boomerang Concepts™ are designed to meet this objective by bringing out the best performance from each individual because your business objectives demand the best from each individual. His presentations help each person to recognize and develop their sense of commitment, dedication and individual responsibility to the overall success of the company because in the end – be it success, failure or mediocrity – it all comes back to you!

Jim's signature Boomerang Concepts™ provide a personal leadership model that instills the drive and determination your audience needs to work towards their objectives with the intent of returning the best results possible. He will maximize the productivity and profitability of your organization by bringing accountability for performance improvement back to the individual using a unique tool. You guessed it – a boomerang! In this interactive session, the participants discover the principles of optimizing their results by actually learning to throw a boomerang! Not only does this resonate with the audience but it leaves a lasting impression. We can even arrange for each participant to leave with one of our 'token' boomerangs to reinforce our message.

To further optimize the impact of your message, Jim can customize his Boomerang Concepts™ to meet the core purpose of your event or meeting. Let him drive your message home and be the catalyst for performance improvement at your next event!
